Senator Watson Successfully Lead Fight Against Confirmation of Georgia's Colored Politician.

SENATE ACTION TAKEN IN EXECUTIVE SESSION

Watson Is Joined by Harris, and Johnson's Alleged Legal Record in Atlanta Submitted.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON, Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 22.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—Henry Lincoln Johnson, the negro republican national committee man from Georgia, who was appointed last June to be recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, was tonight rejected by the senate in executive session with only one dissenting vote.

The fight against Johnson's confirmation had been led by Senator Watson both in committee room and lastly on the floor of the senate tonight. When the confirmation first came up before the district committee of the senate, the junior senator from Georgia made the point of Johnson being personally obnoxious to him but the committee on a strictly party line, voted in favor of the confirmation and so reported.

Tells of Interview. Carrying the fight to the floor tonight Senator Watson, it is said, explained in detail why Johnson was personally obnoxious, alleging that the negro committee man had printed an interview in a Baltimore negro paper to the effect that he would "rather be in hell without Tom Watson than be in heaven with him."

Senator Watson, it is said, also placed before the senate the record of Johnson in alleged legal transactions in Atlanta which he claimed unfitted him for a position of trust under the government.

Harris Joins. It is understood that Senator Harris, of Georgia, joined Senator Watson in claiming Johnson to be personally obnoxious. When put to a vote it is said, there was only one affirmative.

Johnson has been a factor in republican politics for many years and held the position of recorder of deeds in the district during the Taft administration. His election at the last national convention of the republicans as national committee man from Georgia brought about the movement for a reorganized party in Georgia under white control.

The rejection of Johnson tonight is final and eliminates him from national politics. It is reliably understood that President Harding will not make a vacation appointment of Johnson to any office since it has been made known to the president that Johnson is personally obnoxious to both Georgia senators.

Atlantans to Give

For Year's Goodness

Churches to Be Center of Thanksgiving Observance Here.

BY PARKS RUSK. The populace of Atlanta is this day wondering how in the name of all that is nice and proper it can attend church Thursday morning and return thanks due Providence for all its goodness and bounty, and then go home and find time enough to do any decent justice to her turkey dinner before it is the hour to entrain en masse for Grant field to witness the annual Tech-Auburn massacre.

It is to be a very busy day, thanks to the good pastors, the good cooks and two good football teams. For those who cannot control their passionate desire for the second and third helping of turkey and gravy and cranberries and are still attempting to appease their appetite at 2:30 o'clock, when the football game begins, the theaters

HARDWICK PLANS
EARLY PAYMENT
OF VETS' PENSIONS

Money Will Be Distributed Three Weeks After Decision If Favorable to the State.

STATEMENT IS MADE
FOLLOWING INQUIRIES

Should W. & A. Rental Case Decision Be for State, $1,883,000 Would Be Made Available.

If the supreme court's decision in the Western and Atlantic funding case involving the question of whether or not the state has authority to issue $2,500,000 deferred warrants against the rental of that railroad is favorable to the state, the pensions of Confederate veterans amounting in the aggregate to $1,883,000 will be paid within three weeks after the decision is handed down, Governor Thomas W. Hardwick announced Tuesday.

This statement was made by the governor after many letters of inquiry had been sent to his office and to the office of the commissioner of pensions from all parts of the state by Confederate veterans and widows of veterans who are anxious to get the money which has been due them for months and in some cases for more than a year.

"We are hopeful that a decision will be rendered soon in the Western and Atlantic case and if the supreme court's verdict is in favor of the state we will begin paying the pensions within three weeks after the decision is received," Governor Hardwick said.

Authorized by Assembly. The legislature at its last session passed a bill authorizing the governor to issue and sell deferred warrants based on the Western and Atlantic rentals for a period of five years. This plan of relieving the state's financial distress was proposed by S. G. Mc-

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, November 22.—Senator Felix Cordova-Davila, resident commissioner from Porto Rico, was instructed in a cablegram received today from San Juan, to request President Harding to remove Governor E. Mont Reilly immediately from that office. The cablegram, comprising a document of 1,000 words, set forth in detail the specific charges which are to be preferred with the request. It was signed by thirty-nine of the fifty-eight members of the Porto Rican assembly.

Senator Davila announced tonight that he would see President Harding and Secretary Weeks—the latter as the immediate superior of Governor Reilly—at "the earliest opportunity." Declaring that Governor Reilly had come to the island "with deep-rooted prejudices," the cablegram asserted that his actions since then had indicated he lacked "judiciousness and integrity" necessary for the position he now holds. On the "pretext that he is president of the senate" and members of the majority party were enemies of the United States," it continued, he embarked on "a policy of aggression against Porto Ricans not personally addicted to him."

SENATE TO VOTE
TAX BILL TODAY

Following Passage of Revenue Measure, Congress Special Session Will Adjourn Sine Die.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, November 22.—The final vote on the tax revision bill will be taken by the senate at not later than 5 p. m. tomorrow under an unanimous consent agreement entered into today after the measure had been under debate for several hours. Immediately upon its passage, the bill will be sent to the president.

The only important section of the bill which will be put into force immediately upon its becoming a law is that relating to the income tax, the other tax changes going into effect on next January 1. The present surtax rates will be continued for this calendar year, the reductions agreed upon by the house and senate going into effect in the next calendar year and being reflected in the actual payments to be made by the taxpayers in 1923.

A concurrent resolution was adopted by the senate late today to adjourn sine die tomorrow night after the vote is taken on the tax bill. The resolution now goes to the house where it is expected to be acted favorably upon.

"Temporary Maskshift." In laying the conference report before the senate today, Chairman Penrose, of the senate managers, in a formal statement, described the bill as a "temporary maskshift."

"The bill," Senator Penrose said, "does not place the tax system on a stable or scientific basis. But it is better than the law which it will supersede because of the reduction of the tax burden and the technical or administrative improvements which it affects."

"As it has been said, it is temporary measure. But nothing better than a temporary maskshift will be possible until the people of this country give to the question of federal taxation an amount and kind of study which it has not yet received: until—in particular—the people become convinced of the sincerity

MEN ARE TO MAKE

125 Federation Men Plan to Accept Invitation to Inspect Stock and Crops.

TAXATION DISCUSSED
BY NEW YORK MAN

Grain Speculation, Live Stock Transportation and Cotton Marketing Are Subjects of Talks.

LADIES ESPECIALLY INVITED ON TOUR

Every member of the American Farm Bureau federation in annual convention here has been invited by the Georgia association to take a two-day trip through Georgia's best agricultural lands. The entire cost of the trip to each delegate will approximate $15. Ladies have been especially invited to make the trip. The travelers will leave Atlanta at 10 o'clock Wednesday night from the Terminal station, over the A. B. and A. railway, and will return to Atlanta Saturday morning at 6:45 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale at the Auditorium all day Wednesday.

Delegates to the American Farm Bureau federation's convention here Tuesday night had before them an invitation to go on a free two-day automobile tour through the heart of Georgia's peach belt and the creamery section of the state.

One thousand delegates to the convention on Tuesday afternoon heard from H. G. Hastings, president of the Georgia association.

The conventioners who accept this invitation will leave Atlanta Wednesday night for Montezuma, where they will start their automobile tour Thursday morning. They will return to Atlanta Saturday morning, and it is possible that a stop will be made at Macon on the return.

It is known definitely that 125 members of the federation will make the trip. It is already certain that fifteen members of the Ohio delegation will go, and that nine of the West Virginia delegation will go also, while members of the Illinois, Indiana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Michigan, Colorado, Kansas, South Dakota and Massachusetts delegations expressed their intention Thursday night of making the trip.

The trip is designed to include a visit to the prize-winning beef and dairy cattle and hogs at Thomasville, almost at the Florida line, through the heart of the cane syrup business of the United States at Cairo, and the world's greatest pecan orchards between Camilla and Albany. Hogs and alfalfa farms will be shown along the route, which will lead through Georgia's great watermelon and peanut sections and give the visitors a comprehensive view of the wonderful agricultural possibilities of this great partially developed agricultural empire.

Turner county and the creamery city of Ashburn will meet the party at Montezuma with automobiles, prepared to accommodate 150 persons, and will prepare a real Thanksgiving here because for the guests following an inspection of the creamery and typical dairy farms in the vicinity.

Will Show Herds. E. E. Mack, owner grand champion, Bonnie J., and prize-winning Poland Chinas, and other owners of prize winners, at Thomasville, will show their herds, and wonderful lespedeza, carpet grass and dallis grass pastures. Kate Brennan, a maid at the hotel, followed Glennon, and testified that she dusted off the two doors introduced by the prosecution for finger print evidence, some time after the finger prints were supposed to have been made by Arbuckle and Miss Rappe.

Statement of Agricultural Probe Results First Authorized Expression Since Inquiry Started.

Legislation to meet the needs of American farmers for credit, for standardizing containers of agricultural products and for reducing present freight rates on agricultural commodities will be among the recommendations to be made soon to congress by the joint congressional commission now probing agricultural conditions, according to predictions made Tuesday night at the third annual convention of the American Farm Bureau federation at the local auditorium by Representative Sidney Anderson, of Minnesota, chairman of the commission.

The commission was appointed about three months ago by congress to investigate American agricultural conditions and Congressman Anderson's speech Tuesday night was the first authoritative expression made since the committee's formation. His speech was greeted throughout by applause of more than 1,000 members of the farm federation.

Another important development of the convention Tuesday night was the announcement that the Muscle Shoals committee of the federation has formulated a resolution, which states that "if Muscle Shoals is not immediately put into operation it will require, either the importation of, or the doing without of, about 160,000 tons of nitrogen in 1924," and which declares that the "best plan that presents itself for an immediate and continuous operation of this plant is the tender made by Henry Ford."

It is expected that the resolution will be adopted by the convention Wednesday and that it will be immediately forwarded to Washington.

Other Recommendations. Other recommendations which will no doubt be made to congress soon

Prosecution Ends
Its Case Tuesday

Maids at Hotel Testify and Expert Identifies Fingerprints on Doors.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

San Francisco, November 22.—After the prosecution had closed its case late today in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. ("Fatty") Arbuckle, after reserving the right to give further testimony tomorrow, Attorney Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the defense, made the opening statement for Arbuckle.

"We will prove that Arbuckle was not in the hotel room more than ten minutes with Miss Virginia Rappe," McNab continued. Arbuckle is accused of having inflicted fatal injuries on Miss Rappe, a motion picture actress, in his hotel rooms September 5, George Glennon, house detective of the hotel, was the first witness called by the defense.

The court ruled out McNab's attempts to have the witness detail a conversation he had with Miss Rappe following her alleged injuries at Arbuckle's hands.

Before the trial the defense announced that Glennon had made a statement to the district attorney in which he said that Miss Rappe had exonerated Arbuckle.

Glennon was excused from the stand following the court's ruling. Kate Brennan, a maid at the hotel, followed Glennon, and testified that she dusted off the two doors introduced by the prosecution for finger print evidence, some time after the finger prints were supposed to have been made by Arbuckle and Miss Rappe.

Colorful Drama
At Murder Trial

Four Women Jurors Already Selected to Try Arthur C. Burch.

Los Angeles, Cal., November 22.—As in the Arbuckle case, women jurors are expected to play an important part in the most colorful, romantic and complex murder case that has ever come to trial on the Pacific coast. This is the trial of Madalynne Obenchain and Arthur C. Burch, accused of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, a young Los Angeles broker. Burch will be tried first.

Four women jurors were tentatively passed at the Tuesday session. This case has so many romantic angles that it is with difficulty that many spectators at the trial Tuesday could keep in mind that it is a murder trial and not an exceptionally thrilling love story.

Early Decisions Expected as to Executive Clemency for Offenders Against Wartime Laws.

EUGENE V. DEBS CASE TO BE REVIEWED ALONE

Bitter Debate Marks Introduction of Resolutions Urging Amnesty for Prisoners Into Congress.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, November 22.—Extension of executive clemency to offenders against the wartime laws now serving prison sentences will be given early consideration by President Harding, it was said today at the white house. The subject was discussed at the cabinet meeting today and it was understood that a policy of leniency toward these offenders where possible was generally approved.

The president has asked the attorney general for a digest of each of these cases, and Mr. Daugherty expects to have the histories of the war law prisoners completed in two weeks.

Under the administration's policy there would be no sweeping proclamation of amnesty, it was said officially, but each case would be considered on its merits separately and military as well as civil offenders would be considered. However, the president is understood to view with disfavor the release of persons who advocated property destruction or industrial offenders, although particular attention would be given service men guilty of infractions of disciplinary regulations of more or less seriousness.

About Ninety Affected. These are, according to Mr. Daugherty, about seventy-five civilian war-time offenders now serving sentences in federal prisons and fourteen soldiers who could come within the clemency program. The justice department, he said, is preparing for the president a detailed statement of each man's case showing where he was convicted, what sort, length of sentence, time served, good behavior record and eligibility for parole. These, he added, would be submitted to the president as completed. He indicated that Mr. Harding might act upon them as they came to him.

A study of the treatment of this class of offenders by foreign nations as well as precedents, Mr. Daugherty declared, will be made to aid the administration in reaching its decisions. He indicated that the justice department would favor freedom for these prisoners, by pardon, commutation of sentence or parole, where the case in the various cases and good conduct records would warrant it. Mr. Daugherty also declared that he intended to obtain from the district attorneys throughout the country a list of the cases of war law offenders still pending for consideration with a view to bringing them to a close.

Bond and Company Will Continue to Purchase Warrants, Governor Is Informed.

After several false trails had been followed and after two apparently accurate clues had been found to be groundless in the search for R. N. Berrien, Jr., charged in a warrant sworn out by M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of education, with embezzlement of $35,000 in state funds in connection with the sale of deferred school warrants, it was announced at the governor's office Tuesday night that Berrien thus far has eluded Pinkerton detectives placed on his trail and also deputies from the office of Sheriff Lowry, in whose hands the warrant was placed.

Reports that Berrien had gone to Birmingham were made to the governor Tuesday, but detectives from the Pinkerton agency, through correspondents in Birmingham, reported that Berrien had not been located in the Alabama city. Several other reports as to Berrien's location were received, but were found to be groundless.

Steps were taken Tuesday by the governor to ascertain upon what agency the loss of the $35,000 in school warrants will fall when he turned over to Attorney-General George M. Napier the records in the case with

Will Hear Public on Ordinance Separating Whites From Negroes in Churches.

Mayor Key promised Tuesday morning not to act on the ordinance adopted by city council Monday afternoon barring whites and negroes from attending the same place of worship or the same school, until he has heard the subject discussed at a public meeting, which he announced he would call.

The hearing will be held within the next three days, since four days from the date of a council meeting is the expiration limit for the mayor to attach his signature to papers passed at the session.

A resolution asking Mayor Key to veto the ordinance was adopted Tuesday night at a meeting of the Christian council at the Second Baptist church. The council, composed of representatives of all the white, Protestant churches of the city, adopted the resolution unanimously, without lengthy discussion.

Introduced by Dr. Lacy. Dr. Ben R. Lacy, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, introduced the resolution. It was discussed briefly by Dr. Richard Orme Flynn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church. It was remarked that the ordinance "interfered with the constitutional rights of the individual."

In conference with Rev. T. C. McCutchen, pastor of the Third Baptist church on Luckie street, who called at the executive office Tuesday morning to discuss the ordinance, the mayor stated that it was his intention to let the people express their views at an open hearing.

Dr. McCutchen visited the mayor to request him to delay his signature until the ministers of the city had spoken on the measure. He stated that members of the Ministers' Evangelical association would have suggestions to offer.

Machinery Is Working So Smoothly That Observers Predict Definite Agreements Soon.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, November 22.—The negotiations relating to both the Far East and armament limitation moved more slowly today as the attention of the arms delegates passed from general policies to specific details.

China's economic embarrassments formed the text of the Far Eastern discussions, which resulted in the appointment of a subcommittee of representatives of nine nations to study the whole subject of administrative autonomy for the Chinese republic with particular reference to tariff and tax restrictions.

The land armament problem also was considered at various informal conferences during the day, and a meeting of the armament committee of the whole was called for tomorrow with the expectation that Premier Briand, of France, would say at least a word as to his country's attitude on reduction of armaments. It is understood that he is anxious to bring the question to a point of a formal expression by the conference before his departure for France.

Naval Problem. On the side of naval armament, informal exchanges continued between individual delegates and naval experts with an air of growing confidence that details of the American plan, although requiring considerable time for determination, would eventually bring all the powers into agreement.

It is possible that the naval plan may receive some consideration at tomorrow's meeting of the five delegations which constitute the armament committee of the whole, but the greater attention is expected to center on land armament, in view of the imminence of M. Briand's departure. It is the preservation of her army, with the moral backing of the principal powers, that most interests France at the present stage of the negotiations, and it is known that M. Briand would be pleased to take back to France with him a formal conference endorsement of the position he has taken against material reduction.

Whether the other delegates will be willing to go so far as to take formal action of that character just now is uncertain, although it is taken for granted that at tomorrow's meeting there will be many general expressions.

20,000-Year-Old Tooth Is Infant Beside This Shell

How old does anything have to be to be classed as unusual? This question puzzled one of The Constitution reporters Tuesday when he called on Dr. S. W. McCallie, state geologist, and heard that Dr. McCallie had just received a mastodon's tooth from the Bowden Lithia Water company, Lithia Springs, Ga., where the tooth was unearthed recently.

Breathlessly the reporter rushed to the office to chronicle the news of the discovery of a mastodon's tooth within 18 miles of Five Points, said tooth being at least 20,000 years old.

"I've got a good story about a mastodon's tooth 20,000 years old ad—" he began.

But the city editor laughed in scorn. "Only 20,000 years old," he ejaculated. "Why, that's nothing but an infant compared to what we've got up in the front office. We've got a shell up there that's 500,000 years old to a certainty, while some scientists claim it is at least a million years old. Where do you get on with this little 20,000-year-old stuff?"

Now if a regular city editor had been on deck he would not have been such a wise gink and a waiting public would have received full benefit of the remarkable discovery. But the reporter sadly tore up his notes.

Let us be thankful! We have much to be thankful for; especially those of us here in the South. We have just harvested the largest crop of foodstuffs in our history, and cotton, the so-called "Money Crop," sold for nearly twice the price that was expected when it was planted. The unemployment is less in the South than in any other section of our country. Let us be thankful for such conditions.

There are many in Atlanta that are thankful that they have KAMPER'S to depend upon for their food supply, where they may select any and every kind of food as best suits their tastes and at prices to suit every pocketbook.

BANK PRESIDENT TAKES OWN LIFE

James A. Knight, Wealthy
Cartersville Man, Found Dead Early on Tuesday Night.

Cartersville, Ga., November 22.—James A. Knight, president of the Bank of Cartersville, and also president of the Knight Mercantile company, was found dead at his home here shortly after 6 o'clock tonight, with a bullet hole in his head and a pistol with one empty chamber lying on the floor at the bedside.

A verdict of suicide was rendered by the coroner's jury.

Mr. Knight, who was about sixty years of age, had been in ill health for the past five years. Members of his family expressed the opinion that his long illness had caused him to become morbidly depressed, temporarily and his suicide resulted. He was the only person in the house when the shooting occurred.

When his health became worse two years ago, Mr. Knight severed all active connections with his bank and other enterprises. He was considered one of the wealthiest men in north Georgia.

Three of his sons, Fred Knight, Robert Knight and Jack Knight, have charge of the Knight Mercantile company. His other son, James Knight, is a student at the Georgia School of Technology.

In addition to his sons, the deceased is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Stanley Dodd, wife of a prominent Atlanta business man; three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Leake, of Decatur; Mrs. C. C. Cleghorne, of Summerville; and Miss Rebecca Knight, of Washington, D. C., and one brother, A. C. Knight, of Albany.

Funeral arrangements will be announced Wednesday morning.

HARDWICK URGES LIMITING OF ARMS

"If a Chinese wall were drawn around Georgia, we could get along on the products produced within the state," was a statement made by Governor Hardwick at a supper given in his honor Tuesday evening by the Men's club of the Central Presbyterian church on Ellis street.

Governor Hardwick made the address of the evening, and after a few remarks on the state's industrial and economic condition, he turned to the subject of the disarmament conference and the problems confronting that assembly.

"Nations are like individuals," said the governor, "and, in my judgment, the time will never come when nations will not be essentially selfish. We will never get away from nationalism and the pride of nationalism. It would be a dangerous thing if we should."

And yet, something along the line of disarmament can be done. No nation trusts another enough to agree to complete disarmament. It seems to me, however, that we can do much at least in that direction."

The meeting was presided over by Dr. William Torrence Stuchell, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of the evening, and the especially invited guests, who were Colonel William Lawson Pool, Walter Barnwell, president of the Kiwanis club; Arthur L. Brooke, president of the Druid Hills M. E. church Bible class; Arthur W. Fullenbrook, of the Men's club of the West End Presbyterian church; and Robert H. Jones, Jr., president of the Atlanta Masonic club.

Music was furnished Tuesday night by Mrs. Morgan Stephens, director of the church orchestra; Miss Frances Coleman, pianist; Mrs. Dwight S. Bayley, of Central Presbyterian church choir; Roy F. Jennings, of North Avenue Presbyterian church choir; and Joseph Regan, of the same church.

The officers of the Men's club are: president, William Grant Smith; vice president, Ralph A. Tracy; secretary and treasurer, Gordon Donaldson.

STATE RESTS CASE AT ARBUCKLE TRIAL

The defense endeavored to prove that in the dusting process she rubbed out the fingerprints.

Arbuckle gave her a tip of $250 for cleaning his room, and offered her some whiskey, which she refused, Miss Brennan testified.

Heard Nothing.

Mrs. Lois Harding Lancashire, a guest at the hotel during the party, said she heard no conversation between the two women.

More general interest was evidenced in the trial today than on any day of the trial, and the courtroom was crowded to the rafters.

The last prosecution witness today was Professor E. O. Heinrich, consulting criminologist of the University of California, who identified fingerprints found on two of the hotel doors as those of Miss Rappe and Arbuckle. The doors were brought into court and the fingerprints examined by Heinrich.

The doors were produced by Heinrich.

Says Room Open.

Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the defense, said in his opening statement, that the room in which Arbuckle was alleged to have locked himself and Miss Rappe at the time of the supposed attack, was open at all times.

That window shade was up at all times, he said, and the interior of the room was therefore in full view of other hotel guests.

Showing the statement a technical argument arose over the testimony of George Glennon, hotel detective, which resulted in his being excused from the trial. His testimony had been called to settle the points. This was in relation to admissions made to the witness by Miss Rappe following the attack.

Arbuckle's attitude bordered on the defiant throughout the day. Mrs. Minnie Arbuckle, his wife, went to the jury box to see the trial.

Upon the conclusion of the prosecution testimony the court announced the court officers, jury and counsel would visit the hotel rooms tomorrow.

"CHARACTER WOMAN" STARS.

San Francisco, November 22.—The "character woman" in the Arbuckle drama had her big scene Tuesday.

Mrs. Josephine Keza, a chambermaid at the St. Francis hotel, took the stand for the first time.

She told a tale that convulsed the courtroom at times, shocked it occasionally, and often made the prosecution exclaim more than slightly and annoyed. It was a backstage tale, full of the observations of the "know-all" chambermaid. Mrs. Keza, a big woman who played her hands on her hips and made numerous observations not called for, enjoyed her prominence to the fullest extent.

She would straighten her hat and sail into her subject with a snacking of lips and confidential, gossiping manner that made it hard for even the court to keep a straight face.

Lost No Details.

She had hid in clothes closets for two hours that afternoon, listened at keyholes for indeterminate periods, conferred with other chambermaids and otherwise lost no detail of the gay party.

She had seen bare legs fleeing down hallways after ladies in pink and white silk slips. She saw actresses walking around with the filiciest of negligees. She saw famous actors in pajamas and had seen them in the kitchen, noise of drinking and singing.

"Oh, what an afternoon," she sighed at one point, and the remark was stricken from the record.

Heard Woman Remark.

It was she who heard a woman shriek, "Oh, no, no, no! Oh, my God, no!" and a man answer, "Aw, shut up."

But she admitted that at this very moment she had heard a scurrying of bare feet in other parts of the suite and she did not know exactly whether it was Miss Rappe shrieking or Arbuckle talking. She thought it was.

"Was it your duty to remain at the keyhole all afternoon?" Mrs. Keza was asked in cross-examination.

"Oh, yes; sure it was," she replied. "We have to know how people do when they are drunk, don't we?" she replied.

Al Seamen, manager of the dead actress, said in testifying that he did not think Virginia Rappe was seriously ill when she tore her clothes off because "she had done that before when drinking."

Merchant Kills Wife.

Gulfport, Miss., November 22.—Thomas M. Waro, a merchant, a Gulfport, Texas, shot and fatally wounded his wife here last night as they alighted from a Gulf and Ship Island train that had just arrived from Jackson.

by the agricultural probe committee, said Congressman Anderson Tuesday night include the following:

That the thirty thousand banks in the United States be authorized to function with the Federal Farm Loan system, with or through the Federal Reserve system.

That all banks become agents of the Federal Farm Loan banks, buying and selling their securities and that the Federal Farm Loan banks be given the power to issue debentures on agricultural commodities.

And that these loans and debentures will run from six months to three years.

At a joint session Congressman Anderson said that he did not believe it would be necessary to issue debentures on short time, as the land banks could discount short time paper with the Federal Reserve.

He also advocated giving farmers all the time needed to pay for the money they borrow from the crops they produce; and that the present commercial banking be not limited, but that the banks serve farmers as well as they do other people.

For Attaches Abroad.

He then predicted that the commis-

Farm Women Hold Important Conference

BY LOUISE DOOLY.

The big committee room provided by the American Farm Bureau Federation for the women's conference Tuesday afternoon was scarcely large enough for the great number of women who wanted to enjoy the benefits of the meeting. But they were eager to get to business, and preferred crowding to losing the time it would take to accept a more commodious meeting place.

Mrs. Charles Schuttler, of Missouri, who is a practical farm woman and a member of the women's committee of the Farm Bureau Federation, which called the women's conference, presided, and there were representatives present from as far as North Dakota, California, Texas and New York state.

Committee Introduced.

The members of the women's committee were introduced—Mrs. Letta Brown, of West Virginia; Mrs. John C. Ketchum, of Michigan; Mrs. A. E. Ketchum, of New York, and Mrs. Schuttler. A fifth member is to be appointed to represent the far west.

Women who own and run farms themselves, some of these farms thousands of acres in extent, were present, as well as the woman whose husband has just purchased less than half a hundred acres on which he is beginning a truck farm. Home bureau agents entered into the symposium, as well as women writers for farm journals. The heads of home economics and extension work in universities took interested parts, and there were even a few men looking on and listening.

The wants and the needs of the farm woman, her rapid development in leadership and her appreciation of the value of educational opportunity for her children as well as specialized training for herself in order to advance the family's prosperity, were some of the vital themes discussed.

Purpose Given.

The purpose of the farm bureau work for women and their coming together in convention was revealed in favor of it, but advised that farmers advance slowly and from a solid foundation.

Discusses Finance Act.

Congressman Anderson said that he regretted that the passage of the War Finance corporation act eliminated the extension of credit to European centers, for, he declared, the falling off of agricultural exports is a great factor in the present low prices for farm commodities. He also said that the decreased domestic consumption, the limitation of credit and the forcing of agricultural products on to the market are also causes for the present low prices of farm commodities.

He said that the commission is convinced that freight rates on agricultural commodities must be reduced if agriculture is to survive, and declared that the commission is making an extensive study of relation of prices of agricultural commodities to the freight rates paid upon them over a series of years. He predicted that this study will be useful in the future establishment of the percentage of the final selling price or the first selling cost which should be collected by the railroads. The resolution on Muste Shouls by the farm bureau's Muscle Shoals committee was men everywhere along the route will furnish automobiles and answer questions regarding agricultural conditions.

The invitation was read at Tuesday afternoon's session, while G. H. Abbot, secretary of the Georgia association, opened the evening session with an explanation of the trip.

Tuesday afternoon the convention was addressed by H. C. McKenzie, of Walton, N. Y.; Clifford Thorne, Chicago, Ill.; C. O. Moser, secretary of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange, Dallas, Texas; C. J. Fawcett, Chicago, Ill.; C. H. Gustafson, president of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., Chicago; while Mrs. Charles Schuttler, chairman of the women's division of the federation, discussed the part of women in the federation. The evening session was taken up with a round table discussion on "Definite County Work," Howard Leonard, of Illinois, leading.

Tuesday's Subjects.

The subjects which the speakers discussed were "Taxation," "Transportation," "Grain Marketing," "Live Stock Marketing" and "Cotton and Wool Marketing."

Relative to taxation, Mr. McKenzie said that the federation's "idea has been as a tax system founded on justice and a square deal for the 90,000,000 people whose income is below the income tax level and the relating to obligation of the idea that the poor should pay the taxes and the rich accumulate more money."

On the question of tax free securities, Mr. McKenzie was particularly severe.

"Tax free securities," he said, "furnish a refuge to which men of wealth can invest their money, enjoy all the benefits of our government, send their children to our schools, be protected in their persons and property, and have some one else pay the bill; all authorities are agreed that this is the worst feature of our present tax system and yet no active steps are being taken to remedy it."

"Our disarmament conference is being heralded as a great effort to save the country from being taken to death. If it accomplishes all that its most ardent advocates hope, it will save the people of this country from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 annually."

"The United States government is losing annually at least $600,000,000 through these tax free securities and the states that have income taxes are losing another huge sum."

Discusses Speculation.

Mr. Thorne in his address discussed live stock transportation and grain speculation.

"The federation has co-operated with two live stock organizations," he said, "in trying to secure a reduction in freight rates on live stock. In August we succeeded in securing a decision from the commission requiring a reduction in the long haul rates which will mean a saving to the shippers of approximately $4,000,000 annually. We have recently completed the argument on rehearing where in we hope to secure an additional reduction of $12,000,000 applicable to the short hauls."

The convention was also addressed Tuesday afternoon by John R. Voris, associate secretary of the Near East Relief, who thanked the federation for its aid and stated that the Near East Relief was the means of saving the Armenian race. He declared that relief work will now be directed toward Russia's starving children.

ARISTIDE BRIAND.

Washington, November 22.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—At the international conference held in Washington yesterday, Premier Briand, the strong man of Europe, spoke first to the people of his own France, and then to the nations of the world, in one of the most eloquent orations ever heard in this, the universal home of oratory.

The figure of the great French statesman, standing at the right of the American group, and looking directly into the faces of the conferees and the throng that packed the conference auditorium, commanded the unbroken gaze of every person present throughout the more than an hour of unexcelled Latin eloquence; and so the people of his own France, and then to the nations of the world, in one of the most eloquent orations ever heard in this, the universal home of oratory.

AN UNUSUAL ADVERTISEMENT

We believe the Federal Reserve System is the greatest banking system in the world.

We are greatly interested in the agricultural interests of this section. We reproduce below the editorial from the Augusta Herald and the Atlanta Journal which explains so clearly that the agricultural interests can obtain greater benefits from the Federal Reserve System by more State Banks joining that system.

The Federal Reserve System And Food-Crop Marketing

WITH its wonted keenness of insight into large questions of the day the Augusta Herald brings to bear upon the current discussion of market facilities for Georgia food crops a most timely and fertile idea. Answering the frequently heard complaint that it is difficult if not impossible to borrow money "to make any crop but cotton," the Herald observes that if it be true there certainly is no reason for its continuing so "if a spirit of co-operation can be developed between farmers, merchants and bankers." Let that spirit, with its resultant means and methods, prevail, and money will be procurable "to raise all kinds of crops, as well as live stock." How so? The Herald explains in this wise:

Let us start at the beginning. If a country bank is willing to take a farmer's note with a proper collateral for a loan, due within six months, the country bank, if a member of the Federal Reserve system, can immediately discount this note and give the currency to make such a loan. If the farmer is not ready to pay the note when it comes due within six months and desires a new loan of six months in order to market his crop gradually, this can be secured, thus giving the farmer a loan practically for twelve months in which to raise and market his crop of grain, live stock, potatoes, hay or cotton, as the case may be.

Touching this point, the Herald recalls a recent and notable address by Mr. Joseph A. McCord, of the Federal Reserve Bank of this country, in the course of which he declared to an audience of farmers, bankers and business men at Athens that the Federal Reserve bank has never yet declined to handle any crop paper presented to it by the member banks of the system. That the Federal Reserve bank makes loans, not to individual persons, but only to banks and only to banks that are members of the system, should need no re-stating at this time. But the important fact is that through member banks the Federal Reserve stands ready to play a liberal part in meeting the needs of diversified farming within the limits of sound finance. Thus, as the Herald describes, "a farmer may borrow money from his local bank provided such bank is a member of the Federal Reserve system, for six months, to make his crop of cotton or grain or to raise live stock; and if at the end of six months he wishes to hold his products for a better price, it is possible to place his cotton or grain in warehouse or elevator and use the receipt thereof as collateral for a new loan in order to market his crop slowly, and gradually liquidate the loan."

As a matter of course and of necessity these accommodations are confined to banks that avail themselves of the privilege of joining the Federal Reserve system. Hence the surprising and thought-provoking nature of the fact that out of a total of some one thousand five hundred and ninety State banks in this district, embracing Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana, only 128 are members of the Federal Reserve system. Seven hundred and thirty-one of these State banks, the Herald points out, are now eligible for Federal Reserve membership, while an additional seven hundred and eighty-eight could readily qualify by small increases in their capital. "It is safe to say," the Herald comments, "that if the seven hundred and thirty-one eligible State banks became members of the Federal Reserve system, millions of dollars could be made available for the farmer and the customers of these banks, in case the local bank saw fit to extend such accommodation. Fifteen hundred more State banks in this, the Sixth Reserve District, with the privilege accorded member banks to borrow on or secure agricultural and live stock paper as well as commercial paper, would soon relieve any tightness of money that may be felt among farmers and merchants. . . . The money is here to raise the South's crops, to finance them, and to market them gradually provided the state banks care (1) to join the Federal system, and (2) to extend such accommodations to their customers." Here, then, is a factor of major importance in the great market problem with which Georgia is concerned. Other factors and vital ones these assuredly are, and each must be duly considered. But in the basic matter of financial sinews the facilities afforded by the Federal Reserve system should be borne in mind and turned to account. Even with the relatively small number of State banks now having membership in the system, the Federal Reserve bank at Atlanta renders substantial service in this regard. On July the first of the current year it either held or had rediscounted for member banks some fourteen million, nine hundred and twenty thousand dollars' worth of agricultural and live stock paper, as compared with only six hundred and ninety-three thousand dollars' worth of such paper held on January the first, 1920. So has its usefulness to farming interests multiplied. The Herald aptly observes that the approximately fifteen million of farm loans reported last summer "could easily have been increased to thirty millions or more, if more country banks were members of the system and sought its accommodations for their customers." Light on the problem of marketing Georgia's food crops is growing as and suggestions are received. Let the campaign of education go steadily on, followed by thoughtful and enterprising action.

Parley Styled Marvel Record of Conference Chokes Cynic on His Cynicism Of Christian Impulses

BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE,
(Copyright, 1921, For The Constitution)

Washington, November 22.—France had her day of heartbreak surrounded by sympathetic and conspiring friends. M. Aristide Briand, premier of France, delivered a speech—the long-expected speech which might have been a deflating if it had not been an apology. In a world broken by war and straining its eyes to see the dawn of peace, M. Briand stood in the conference of the delegates of the great nations of the world and pleaded for the right to prepare for war. In a foreign land, to an audience where his language, fiery, beautiful, convincing and powerful, fell in a foreign tongue, the great French orator talked for an hour to a crowd that for the most part could see and hear in his great performance only passionate pantomime and musical cadences that rose and receded incessantly like some lullaby of Thor or Mars.

Flash of Eye. I sat within thirty feet of the premier while he was pleading in defense of continuing a huge land army in an already war-torn land, so long as Germany and Russia continue to menace bulwarks at the very gates of France.

Now Dancing Peace Dance. Europe, in her most appealing voice, trying to reach America, failed so far as the unofficial auditors went. America is fixed in a purpose to bring peace to the world, and being America, believes in the efficacy of slogans and formulas and prayers. America is for the moment in another world mood. Again and again M.

René Viviani is neat, erect, military in his bearing, sternly, but radiant when especially pleased. He is as different in type from the great Briand as the mountains are from the plains.

Briand is a bourgeois born in provincial surroundings. Viviani is an aristocrat. Briand is not typically Parisian French Viviani is. Briand is of the big, lumbering type, with clothes ill-kept and not overly tidy. Viviani is precise in dress but not in the type of the Parisian boulevardier. He looks more the successful, conservative business man.

It is doubtful if France has produced greater men than Briand, Viviani and the Christian master-soldier, Marshal Foch. And all three of these great sons of France are in Washington tonight, though the marshal leaves for a cross-continent trip at midnight, and will shortly be in Atlanta.

Briand referred to Americans as a people who "true enough reference up to a point, but in the matter of disarmament America is just the point." Americans are practical until they begin to dance to some moral issue. Then the howling devils can learn steps from your Uncle Sam. M. Briand's demands for continued military preparation in France fell upon dull ears. No that Americans would stand the military plans of France, Americans have lost interest in them. That is all.

And it seemed from the official voice at the conference that the other allied and associated powers took the cue from America. Their representatives rose one by one and spoke with what seemed great punctiliousness, but with dead voices, about the French position. Bouquets were tossed to France. M. Briand for her orator, the broken shaft, "our dear one," and "at rest." No orange blossoms, no laurels. France struck back into Europe—the Europe of the old world; and the orators of her allies and friends either seemed to be in a daze or delivered their three cheers for their departing friend. That is the way it seemed to me. The most impressive empty show that followed the Briand speech.

Great Audience. It was a great audience that gathered to hear M. Briand. The greatest of the conference. His reception when he arose was hearty. His earnestness, his fine clear voice, his marvelous oratorical gifts, transcending the foreign tongue in which most of his auditors heard him, the sheer loquacity of his personality—all these things seemed to feel the force of the applause that did not always greet sentiments which the translator repeated.

Not that the translator lacked ardor. He had his impassioned moments, too. But the thing he was delivering was not the thing the crowd wanted. Mr. Balfour's reply was quite in the Balfour manner, uttered with the orthodox British hesitancy (the Britisher who speaks trippingly on the tongue commits a grievous oratorical blunder, and Mr. Balfour was in fine form.) His evident desire to please—always manifest in his oratorical manner—took some element of sincerity from the impression he made. Yet M. Briand clearly accepted the Balfour speech as a challenge for another day. That satisfaction may have been the enthusiasm of the oratorical temperament. For the reporters' gallery seemed to feel the extraordinary character of the creaking oratory that met the Briand speech.

Tomorrow will reveal the truth. Possibly all this diplomatic stalling and scraping that followed M. Briand may mean something. It will may be significant. For one miracle has followed another here rapidly. And they all indicate a genuine desire on the part of these conferring nations, represented to act as civilized—even Christian nations. So genuine is the desire to act as practical working seven-day Christians, that the whole story of the conference reads as though it had been prepared in advance by Charles M. Sheldon, the famous author of "What Would Jesus Do?"

GERMANY DENIES BRIAND CHARGES

Berlin, November 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—In a statement to the Associated Press today, the German government officially takes issue with the charges of Premier Briand, of France, in his address before the Washington conference yesterday that the German police forces and the Reichswehr constituted a nucleus for a future German army.

It declares M. Briand's assertion that the Reichswehr is composed exclusively of officers and non-commissioned officers of the old army, is incorrect, and that on the contrary, the bulk of the Reichswehr is made up of young men between the ages of 19 to 21, recruited since the war.

The Reichswehr is wholly unaffiliated with the Submarine, which took the place of the security police when the entente ordered the latter's dissolution.

The Schutzpolizei is primarily an agency to maintain law and order and is not subject to the authority of the ministry of defense. It takes orders solely from the civilian ministries of the federated states. Its numerical strength and its composition with reference to the ratio of officers and men are determined and supervised by the entente control commission.

"The number of rifles and small arms it is permitted to have is carefully specified. It does not possess heavy-caliber arms suitable to convert into a unit of fighting troops. The Entente commission, the civilian guards, referred to by M. Briand, have been dissolved, and their arms have been surrendered and destroyed."

The statement refutes M. Briand's assertion that Germany still possessed numerous arsenals equipped to turn out war materials, and asserts that the plants now are limited to two or three required to keep the German army supplied and that their output is carefully supervised by the entente control commission.

Whisky Explodes.

Athens, Ga., November 22.—Twelve persons were painfully burned today when sixteen gallons of confiscated whisky were ignited by a match and exploded, flaring into a crowd of people watching it being poured off by county authorities at Crawfordsville.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON CHINESE PROBLEM

sions of appreciation for the reasons which impel France to maintain the largest army in the world.

Hughes Meets Advisors. Land, naval and Far Eastern questions were talked over by Secretary Hughes today with the American advisory committee of twenty-one, and after he had presented a report on the present status of the negotiations a number of subcommittees were instructed to prepare reports for the American delegates on various subjects of detail. The submarine issue raised by Great Britain will be one of the questions to be thus investigated and another whose inclusion was regarded as forecasting an entirely new angle of the negotiations will be the use and legitimacy of new weapons of warfare. Thus far that subject has not been mentioned in the conference proper.

The subcommittee on Chinese administrative autonomy, authorized today by the full body of delegates of the nine nations sitting as committee of the whole on the Far East, is expected to find its chief task in an attempted rearrangement of the customs regulations which for many years have kept China from imposing a duty of more than 5 per cent on her imports. In addition, there is expected to be an inquiry into the various international agreements by which certain specified items of the republic's tax returns must be turned over immediately for payment of foreign obligations.

All of these restrictions, the Chinese declare, have resulted in such a curtailment of national revenues as to make economic progress impossible. Since the conference began the Chinese delegates have emphasized the tariff autonomy principle as one of the most important she wished to establish, and there are said to have been in today's discussions a number of expressions of sympathy among the other delegations.

Suggested by Underwood.

The subcommittee, whose membership is yet to be announced, was authorized at the suggestion of Senator Underwood, of the American delegation, and is expected to be composed of the new body. A former chairman of the house ways and means committee and co-author of the existing tariff law, he is recognized as an authority on questions such as those with which the subcommittee will deal.

Although the delegates have not yet taken up some of the most troublesome questions involved in the Far Eastern situation, the progress made thus far was described in official quarters tonight as highly encouraging. So rapidly and smoothly have the negotiations moved thus far that some of those connected with the American delegation who at first through definite agreements unlikely now are predicting that the conference will go a long way toward clearing up the whole Far Eastern tangle.

Probable Procedure.

The probable procedure of the conference with reference to Chinese and other Far Eastern and Pacific questions was forecast today in authoritative quarters. The Root resolution adopted yesterday by the Far Eastern committee of the whole together with any adopted in the future, it was said, would be brought before a plenary conference for final discussion and adoption. Other resolutions on Pacific and Far Eastern questions are said to be in prospect.

Adoption of the Root resolution by the committee, American officials said, was in itself a far step toward protection of China, even should it not be taken before a plenary session as is planned. Publication of the Root resolution as an expression of policy by the powers, it was asserted, carried with it a promise to the world of future action with respect to Chinese territorial and political sovereignty. The subject of future procedure on other Chinese questions is to be developed further at another meeting of the Far Eastern committee of the whole tomorrow. It was learned today that a suggestion for a general subcommittee of two experts representing each of the nine powers was rejected at the suggestion of Senator Lodge, of the American delegation, who was said to have argued that Chinese questions were not matters for experts and that the representatives of the powers themselves were responsible directly for any action taken. His objections were said to have been supported by Mr. Balfour and Premier Briand.

Questions relating to Shantung, Manchuria and foreign treaty and other concessions in China, it was said by delegates today, probably soon be reached by the committee, promising some of the most interesting and probably protracted discussions of the conference. It was said that so far behind as to the Chinese attitude regarding Shantung had been received by American officials, although intimations had come that the Japanese were disposed to insist on retention and protection of their rights and privileges in Manchuria, where Japanese concerns have large investments.

Wicker-Tilling Wedding.

An event of yesterday afternoon was the marriage of Miss Louise Howard Wicker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buchanan, to George D. Tilling, taking place at the home of the bride's parents on Forrest avenue. Dr. J. L. Bennett officiated, performing the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

The reception rooms of the home were artistically arranged with quantities of white and yellow chrysanthemums, and an improvised altar of palms and chrysanthemums was placed in the large living room.

The bride descended the stairs with her mother, Mrs. Buchanan, who gave her in marriage. Her wedding costume was of dark blue tulle, trimmed with white lace and a small hat to match, and sable furs. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansons.

Frances Lee Buchanan, sister of the bride, was the ring bearer and wore a dainty frock of white chiffon, with ribbons of blue.

There were no other attendants. After the ceremony an informal reception was held.

In the dining room the table was graced with a silver vase filled with chrysanthemums and silver candlesticks holding white and yellow tapers, unshaded, encircled this central decoration. Mints and place cards in compartments were placed at intervals on the table; while at one end was placed the bride's cake, beautifully embossed.

Mrs. Buchanan, the bride's mother, was given in brown georgette crepe, trimmed with bronze sequins, and her corsage was of Opheila roses.

Mrs. B. C. Tilling, mother of the groom, wore black satin with a corsage of white roses.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. Robert H. Wicker and sons, Carlton and Haynes Wicker, of Rome, uncle and cousins of the bride.

Bennett-Grisswell; Griswell-Mehaffey.

Lawrenceville, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—A double wedding of much interest occurred here Sunday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Horn, on Culver avenue, when Henry S. Griswell and Miss Lillie Davis Bennett, and John Henry Mehaffey and Miss Mattie Belle Griswell, both of East Lawrenceville, were married.

Rev. Henry H. Jones performed the ceremony. Mrs. Horn played the wedding march. A few intimates of the young married people left for a motor trip through Florida, and will be at home to their friends at East Lawrenceville after December 1.

Dinner for Mr. Grant.

W. T. Grant, of New York, will arrive in Atlanta on Thursday to spend several days with friends. He will entertain at an informal dinner Friday evening, November 25, at the Druid Hills Golf club at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Grant is a prominent merchant and is at the head of a chain of department stores.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND GRIPPE

Any physician or druggist will tell you that the first step in the treatment of a cold, cough, sore throat, influenza or gripe is invariably to take a brisk cathartic purgative, preferably the nauseous calomel called Calotabs. This alone is often sufficient to break up a severe cold, cough, or gripe, or short an attack of gripe and possibly prevent pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—this is all. No salts, no nausea, no the slightest interference with your eating, pleasures or work. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system is purified and refreshed. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages; price ten cents for the vest pocket size; thirty-five cents for a large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists everywhere. Price refunded if you are not delighted.—(adv.)

BEAUTY IS HARMONY

There can be no harmony, and therefore no beauty, in a home in which the wife and mother is cross and irritable and dull-spirited. Often as not, disease is at the bottom of such a condition. Let the woman who is always tired and who suffers from low spirits and mysterious aches and pains, only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She will then see that the beauty and harmony will be restored to her home with the return of her health and good spirits.—(adv.)

Miss Fischer Is Bride of C. F. Woolfe

The marriage of Miss Lucille Marie Fischer and Cecil Francis Woolfe, was a social event of Tuesday, taking place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Johanna Fischer, on Myrtle street, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The lovely home was decorated for the occasion with beautiful palms, potted plants and silver vases filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The ceremony was performed by Dean Johnson, of St. Philip's cathedral, in the parlor before an improvised altar of palms as a background of baskets of chrysanthemums and tall seven-branched candles in chandeliers, holding white burning tapers.

Bridal Party. Miss Marjorie Frances Fischer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore an attractive frock of dark blue charmeuse, daintily embroidered and beaded in jet; her hat was a picture model of black velvet, trimmed with plumes. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Sponsors for Athletic Club.

The southeastern A. A. U. cross-country race will be held on Thanksgiving day at Grant field, under the auspices of the Atlanta Athletic club, will be an interesting event.

Miss Henrietta Oliver, of Cox college, and Miss Mildred Shelton, of Wesleyan college, Macon, will be the attractive sponsors for the Athletic club at this meet.

Reception for Bride and A Group of Visitors.

Mrs. John Baldwin, Jr., was hostess yesterday afternoon at a beautiful reception at the Woman's club, in honor of Mrs. Roscoe Lammus, of Columbus, Miss. Olin Dornier, of Athens, and Mrs. Robert Beckham, of Denver, Col.; Mrs. J. B. Suttles, of Athens, and Mrs. Frank North, whose marriage was celebrated here.

The reception rooms and the palm room of the club were effectively decorated with handsome palms, autumn foliage and quantities of large yellow chrysanthemums.

The tea table in the dining room was covered with a lace cloth and was adorned with a large silver vase filled with yellow Canton chrysanthemums; while at intervals were placed four silver candlesticks holding yellow, unshaded tapers, and silver.

Simple Way to Get RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and the blackheads will disappear. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever.

Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomel powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—(adv.)

Miss Sims' Debut Dance Brilliant Social Event

The second large debut dance of the season, was a brilliant occasion of last evening, at the Piedmont Driving club, given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Redding Sims, introducing their lovely daughter, Miss Nell Sims, formally to society.

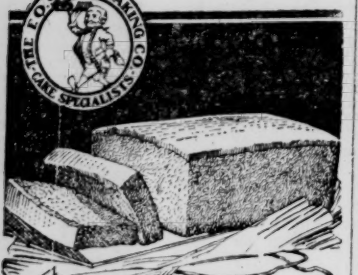

Miss Sims is one of Atlanta's most attractive young girls and is a member of the 1921-22 Debutante club, and also the Atlanta Junior league.

Beautiful Decorations. The ballroom of the club was elaborately decorated with handsome palms, richly tinted autumn foliage and large white baskets filled with exquisite chrysanthemums. Around the outer edge of the room were banked Misses Lammus as a background for yellow and white chrysanthemums, in tall vases and baskets. An orchestra rendered a delightful musical program of the latest dance selections.

MANY ARE KILLED IN BELFAST RIOTS

London, November 22.—War broke out again in Belfast as the Ulster government assumed control of the police establishment Tuesday, taking over police affairs from the empire government. At least twenty persons are believed to have been killed by bombs or bullets.

The fighting, which had consisted mostly of sniping during the morning, reached the height of its fury late in the day when a bomb struck in the center of a crowd of workmen, shattering a tram-car, killing three of the passengers and wounding sixteen, according to a dispatch received here by the Exchange Telegraph company.

Three persons, a man, wife and daughter, were found dead in their beds, asphyxiated, due to a leak of the fighting. A bullet had entered a window of their home and cut a gas-pipe, and the three were overcome as they slept.

There were two fatalities in York street as the people were on their way to work in the morning. One man was killed by a bullet and another, an old man, died of shock, when a bomb broke out around him. There were a number of other casualties in this fighting. Later, another workman was reported to have been killed in a riot and a woman was reported among those wounded.

BANKHEAD HIGHWAY
MEET FOR PHOENIX

Memphis, Tenn., November 22.—An announcement was made at a conference here today between Asa J. Rountree, of Birmingham, Ala., president of the Bankhead Highway association, and representatives of the state branches of the organizations in Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas that the next annual meeting of the association would be held in Phoenix, Ariz., April 24-25, 1922.

It was stated that advice had been received from each of the thirteen states represented in the association approving the selection of Phoenix as the next meeting place. Decision also was reached at today's meeting to urge county boards to erect permanent concrete markers along the route of the highway in Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi.

HENRY P. DAVISON
ARRIVES AT WINTER
HOME IN THOMAS

Thomasville, Ga., November 22.—Henry P. Davison has arrived and will spend the winter at his country home, about eleven miles south of Thomasville. Mr. Davison came in his private car and went at once to his home. He is reported as having improved greatly since his operation some months ago. Mr. Davison's family will arrive later, coming down about the Christmas season.

TWO ARE HELD IN CONNECTION WITH HOLDUP

Arrested on a charge of highway robbery, O. S. Smith, of 311 1/2 street, was held by police Tuesday night pending investigation. Smith, who is in the police station, is in connection with a holdup of a man by the name of Jeff Brassy, who lives in the rear of 68 Mays street, held up and robbed two men, Bill and Tom Yates, who were registered, it is said, at the Marietta hotel.

The police informants are said to have told them that Smith admitted holding up these men, and officers said that they arrested Smith, he gave them the negro's address and told them that he and the negro had held up some one.

The Yates brothers have left the Marietta hotel, and officers are unable to find them. Police have received no complaint of any such holdup. Their information was from parties who stated that Smith had admitted holding up someone and simply alleged admission and confession to officers.

When arrested, a 28-caliber pistol was found on Smith, it is claimed.

C. W. Hager Takes Oath
As District Attorney
In Rome Federal Court

Rome, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—Clint W. Hager, newly appointed United States district attorney for the northern district of Georgia, was sworn in here this afternoon by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the federal court, after being introduced by Assistant District Attorney John Henley.

There was no ceremony, the new district attorney merely taking the oath as dictated by Judge Sibley and later signing it. Mr. Hager was introduced to all the federal officials present and made a pleasant impression by his cordial manner.

Court will adjourn for the week Wednesday evening as Thanksgiving day follows, and since only Friday would remain for business, the court never holding Saturday session here. Judge Sibley announced that under the circumstances he would adjourn the session for the week and resume Monday morning.

Veal was charged with stealing his brother's automobile and bringing it to Macon, where he is alleged to have disposed of it.

Savannah Woman
Accused of Murder
Of Her Two Girls

Savannah, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Nugent, charged with the death by poison of her two little daughters, one hardly more than a babe, today was promptly acquitted in the superior court.

The three physicians, J. L. Oliver, and E. H. Swint, clinic director of the sanitarium at Milledgeville, testified to the fact that she was undoubtedly insane at the time the act was committed which resulted almost in her own death, and two physicians declared she had been insane prior to the death of the little girls. Dr. Swint testified to her being insane for a time two years ago.

Aldridge cleared the courtroom of all except the jurors, witnesses and court officials, although a large audience had gathered to hear the case before the jury.

Mrs. Nugent, who came down from Milledgeville yesterday, her husband accompanying her, was calm throughout the trial, which lasted not more than two hours, in which the jury had been selected readily from a venire of 48 names.

When Mrs. Nugent left for the state sanitarium to which she was committed as soon as she recovered physically from the effects of the gas which destroyed the lives of her children, she was 124 pounds. Today when she appeared in court her weight was more than 200. It was said that she was months after her children's death before she was actually aware of their fate.

STEWART'S RELATIVES
RALLYING TO AID
CONFERENCE AT WHICH PLANS
FOR MAKING GOOD SHORTAGE
SLATED FOR TODAY

Macon, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—Relatives of A. H. Stewart, former city treasurer of Macon, now in the Bibb county jail on a charge of having embezzled $9,700 from the city during the year he served as treasurer, began rallying to his assistance today in the city of Macon.

Afternoon from Cordele, and it was understood that other relatives would arrive on later trains during the night.

Tomorrow, a family council will be held at which plans for furnishing bail for Stewart and devising a plan for making good the shortage will be held. Sheriff Hicks has fixed his bail at $10,000.

The wife of the imprisoned man will spend the winter at her home, but he steadfastly refused to see reporters or to make a statement of any kind.

Stewart appears worried and seems to have been suffering mental anguish, according to jail attendants. That he expects his friends to be of assistance to him is evident from the remark he is said to have made today:

"I am glad to see my friends and the city of Macon is proceeding in the usual manner to realize on Stewart's $25,000 bond. The case will not be presented to the grand jury until the week before Christmas."

Solicitor Garrett stated today, E. B. Weatherly, Stewart's attorney, speaking of the case, said:

"There isn't much to say at this time, except that there are extenuating circumstances that will mitigate in Stewart's case."

WIDOW OF J. J. HILL,
RAIL MAGNATE, DEAD

St. Paul, Minn., November 22.—Mrs. Mary J. Hill, widow of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, died at her home here this morning following a long illness.

Mrs. Hill was 75 years of age and had been in failing health since the death of her husband in May, 1916. She will be buried beside her husband on the Hill estate, North Oak Park, just north of St. Paul.

Born in New York city in 1840, Mrs. Hill was educated in the city and after completing her education in a convent at Milwaukee was married to Mr. Hill here in 1867. Until her husband's death she drove daily with him to his office here.

Mrs. Hill is survived by six daughters and three sons. They are Mrs. Saml. Hill, Washington, D. C., and Seattle; Mrs. Anson McCook Heard, Mrs. Michael Gavin and Mrs. George T. Slade, of New York city; Mrs. E. C. Liner and Mrs. Ed. Roekmann, of St. Paul; James J. Hill, of New York, and Walter J. Hill, of Louisville, Ky.

Savannah, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—Memphis Williams, a colored man, 55 years of age, was killed in a hospital seriously wounded, and six other convicts were less painfully injured at the Brown farm today when a truck in which they were riding turned turtle. Only a few weeks ago eight or ten convicts at almost the same spot were hurt, when a side seat of a truck broke off, flinging the party to the pavement.

DAUGHTER OF KING TO MARRY VISCOUNT

London, November 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The betrothal of Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, to Viscount Lascelles, was announced this evening.

Viscount Lascelles (Henry George Charles Lascelles) is the eldest son of the Earl of Harewood, and 39 years of age. Princess Mary was 24 years old last April.

The viscount, who was educated at Eton, was an attaché at the British embassy in Rome from 1905 to 1907, and aide de camp to the governor general of Canada from 1907 to 1911; served with distinction in the European war. He was three times wounded and won the D. S. C. and bar and the French Croix de Guerre.

"The Broadway Whirl." (Coming to the Atlanta)

At the Atlanta theater for the first time in the city, the "Broadway Whirl" will be the attraction. The "Broadway Whirl" is just as its name indicates. It is a fast changing vehicle with beautiful ensembles, whirling from one scene to another with the musical score circling in an out of half dozen delightful farces screamingly funny and scintillating with humor. It is a spirited and happy combination of comedy and melodrama and specialties and musicals that kept all New York in an uproar the last summer.

John Henry Meers is sending the "Whirl" here with its star cast and production intact. It is not what in stage parlance is called a road show, but the original and only company, the one that appeared in New York city, Chicago and the larger cities of the east and north. Its southern tour of five weeks will bring it into Philadelphia, immediately following the Atlanta engagement.

Blanche Ring, Charles Winninger, Walter Miller and Jay Gould are the four stellar lights of the exceptional cast. They are all too well known to need any extended comment. Ring and Gould are the most popular star for years. Others in the cast include Maxson and Brown, Nina Penn, Virginia Birmingham, Inez Courtney, Gertrude McDonald, Marie Ross and Jean Barrett.

The Broadway Whirl is said to be the best musical comedy which has visited the city since the "Whirl of the Whirl" of delicious humor, flashing eyes, beautiful costumes and youthful twinkling toes. The seat sale opens tomorrow (Thursday) morning.

Loew Vaudeville.
(At the Grand.)

Today and tonight for the last time the musical playlet, "One, Two, Three," will be presented at Loew's Grand theater. Four other excellent Loew acts are on the bill. Al Lester & Co. in farcical hits; Eddie Cassidy, "The Lad from Laughland," Mack and Castleton in clever capers, and the Paez Duo, the harpist and the singer. The big seven production, "The Discretion," with Florence Reed, Gareth Hughes and Lionel Atwill leading the cast is attracting lots of favorable comment as the Buster Keaton comedy, "The High Sign."

For Thanksgiving day a special program has been arranged. Four shows will be announced, starting at 2, 4, 7 and 9 p. m.

"A Man's Home."
(At Metropolitan Next Week.)

Ralph Ince produced "A Man's Home" for Selznick and its title plainly indicates that there can be no "home" without a "mother." As one of a six-star, hand-picked, all-favorite cast, Miss Selznick will appear at the Metropolitan Monday when "A Man's Home" starts an engagement of one week. Harry Morey, Kathryn Williams, Grace Valentine, Roland Bottomley, Faure Binney and Matt Moore are the six stars—but don't forget there is a "sweet old mother" to make you love her.

"The Fox."
(At Tudor Next Week.)

Local players are keenly interested in "The Fox," Harry Carey's Universal Jewel production, coming to the Tudor theater next week, for it is the best picture in which the noted western star appears as a Universal Jewel star. He was recently promoted by Carl Lummle, president of Universal, in recognition of his world-wide popularity and his place in the affection of the public as the foremost exponent of the out-of-door drama. He wrote "The Fox" himself, which was adapted to screen by Lucien Hubbard, scenario editor at Universal City, and filmed on the Mojave desert under the direction of Robert Thornby.

"The Speed Girl."
(At the Howard.)

Bebe Daniels in her latest feature, "The Speed Girl," continues to be the attraction at the Howard theater this week. Walter Hiers, the fat comedian who hails from this neck of the woods, is in the supporting cast of this vivacious comedy. The picture was well named, for it is a burst of speed and enthusiasm from the first title to the final fade-out. Bebe races through 6,000 feet of film. The plot is founded on fact, for it will be remembered that Miss Daniels was jailed for ten days recently for having broken the speed laws of California.

"The Sheik."
(At the Howard Next Week.)

That his role of the Saharan chieftain in "The Sheik," a picture by George Melford for Paramount of the now famous novel of the same name which is the literary sensation of the current season, is the best of his screen career, is the opinion of Rudolph Valentino, who, with Agnes Ayres, Paramount star, is the featured player in the production. It will be shown at the Howard theater all next week.

CHURCH LEADERS
PLAN CITY-WIDE
REVIVAL EFFORT

A conference of religious leaders of the city was held under the auspices of the Christian church Tuesday night to discuss plans for a city-wide evangelistic campaign in the Atlanta churches next spring. A similar campaign last spring gained more than 5,000 new members for the local churches.

Participating in the conference, in addition to pastors and laymen from practically all of the white Protestant churches of the city, were representatives from the Baptist Young People's union, the Christian Epworth League, the Epworth League, Gideon's Billy Sunday Business Men's club, Men's Bible classes, the Prayer circle, M. M. C., and many similar organizations.

THURSTON RUNNING FOR MAYORSHIP OF THOMASTON

Thomaston, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—Hugh Thurston, one of the best known men of Upson county, has announced his candidacy for mayor of Thomaston. A. J. McKin, A. L. Kelly and O. W. Jones have announced for aldermen. Other announcements for mayor and council are expected soon. The primary will be held on December 8. A large number of women have registered, and the mayoralty campaign is expected to be the most closely contested in the city's history.

Dr. M. Cary Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college, who has presided over that institution continuously since 1884, claims to be the oldest living American college president.

THE ONLY WAY.

Faced with the necessity of re-adjusting the agricultural system of this state from the traditional all-cotton to a diversification basis of operations, and of intensifying along the lines of industrial development, it is obvious that Georgia must deal more liberally with its institutions of agricultural, scientific and technical education in the future than it has in the past.

That is to say, the boll weevil having made cotton growing an extremely uncertain occupation, the production of other farm crops instead of cotton, and the development of processes and manufacturing for the utilization of those crops, constitute the only alternative to business decadence and industrial decay in Georgia; and in working to those ends Georgia must rely to a greater extent than ever before upon education along these specialized lines.

This year the cotton yield of Georgia totals only about 800,000 bales, as against a normal crop of around 2,000,000 bales; which represents a shrinkage of something like 1,200,000 bales.

The effect of this tremendous slump in cotton yield has been depressing, as everybody knows. It has occasioned actual suffering; and the fact that it has not been actually calamitous is attributable directly to the extent to which our state agricultural college and other educational institutions have educated our people in the production of diversified crops and along industrial lines.

This sort of education must be kept up; it must be promoted with increasing intensity year by year if Georgia is to hold its own as an agricultural and industrial state, to say nothing of realizing its possibilities in these directions.

And yet, in point of state support given its agricultural college, its technological school and its university, Georgia stands at the bottom of the list of states—even of her sister states of the south.

For instance, note the following extract from the constitution of Louisiana, adopted last June:

"Article XLII, Section 17: There shall be appropriated exclusively to the maintenance and support of the Louisiana state university and Agricultural and Mechanical college all revenues derived and to be derived from the seminary fund, the agricultural and mechanical college fund, and other funds or lands donated or to be donated by the United States to the state of Louisiana for the use of a seminary of learning, or of a college for the benefit of agricultural and mechanical arts. For its endowment and support there shall be levied annually, beginning on January 1, 1925, a tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all the taxable property in the state; but if the proceeds of this tax exceed one million ($1,000,000) dollars in any one year, the excess shall be transferred to the general fund; provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting the legislature from making such additional appropriations as may be necessary."

"After July 1, 1922, and until January 1, 1925, the state's severance or license tax on natural resources up to five millions ($5,000,000) dollars shall be appropriated to the said Louisiana State university and Agricultural and Mechanical college for its maintenance, support, and improvement, and for the construction of additional buildings and equipment; provided, that there shall be first reserved and appropriated annually out of the proceeds of said state severance tax or license not exceeding two hundred and fifty thousand ($250,000) dollars for the supervision and collection of the tax or license and the administration of conservation laws."

In addition to the constitutional provisions, the Louisiana legislature in 1920 appropriated the residue of the severance tax up to $1,000,000 to the university "for the further development and maintenance of the agricultural department," beside doubling the annual appropriations for support of that department. This residue will amount to about $2,000,000.

Thus the Louisiana university should receive from the severance tax about $7,000,000 up to January 1, 1925, after which date the severance tax will be turned into the general fund and the university will be supported by the half-mill tax, which will produce not less than $1,000,000 a year.

This is in line with the general plan by which the great, progressive agricultural states of the north and middle west—such, for instance, as Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, etc., have developed their agriculture and financed, and are financing, their institutions of higher education, agricultural and otherwise.

What a contrast is presented by Georgia, which has appropriated only $10,000 for buildings for its state university during the last ten years; the head of whose School of Technology has resigned to accept a similar position in a northern state at twice the salary Georgia pays him; and the president of whose agricultural college, his already meager salary cut this year, is now considering acceptance of the tender of a vastly more lucrative position in California—and which is only one of several tempting offers he has under consideration!

The probabilities are that no man now living will ever again see more than 1,000,000 bales of cotton produced in Georgia in a single year. This means that all of the energy, labor-power, time and money represented by the difference between the former normal cotton yield and that which can be produced under the boll-weevil conditions must be applied to the production of other crops and to other pursuits—or the state will go backward!

So the state is confronted with the absolute necessity of providing the facilities in which to train its rising generation in the ways of scientific and intensive farming, in the industries, etc., as Louisiana is preparing to do and as the great agricultural states of the north and west, which never have had cotton to depend upon, have done!

So the state is confronted with the absolute necessity of providing the facilities in which to train its rising generation in the ways of scientific and intensive farming, in the industries, etc., as Louisiana is preparing to do and as the great agricultural states of the north and west, which never have had cotton to depend upon, have done!

The probabilities are that no man now living will ever again see more than 1,000,000 bales of cotton produced in Georgia in a single year.

This means that all of the energy, labor-power, time and money represented by the difference between the former normal cotton yield and that which can be produced under the boll-weevil conditions must be applied to the production of other crops and to other pursuits—or the state will go backward!

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON
A Love Song.

O fair the winter season in all the dripping lanes,
Gray skies and barren woodlands—the red leaves in the rains;

For the love of her in my heart, and evermore remains
A rose upon the white breast of the morning!

O fair are all the meadows where the daisies loved to grow,
And all the mist-vreathed valleys, and ghostly hills of snow;

For an unceasing summer time the heart that loves must know,
And the night of life is its dreaming to the morning!

What a contrast is presented by Georgia, which has appropriated only $10,000 for buildings for its state university during the last ten years; the head of whose School of Technology has resigned to accept a similar position in a northern state at twice the salary Georgia pays him; and the president of whose agricultural college, his already meager salary cut this year, is now considering acceptance of the tender of a vastly more lucrative position in California—and which is only one of several tempting offers he has under consideration!

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. MINTYRE

New York, November 22.—Irene Castle is dancing again in the grill of a Broadway cafe. For four years she has been in retirement in Ithaca, following her marriage to a young business man. Few will deny that Mrs. Castle and her late husband, Vernon, gave the dance craze its biggest impetus.

They caught a popular fancy and rode on a high wave to fame—Vernon the fair-haired young Englishman and Irene, the daughter of a New Rochelle doctor. Mrs. Castle was a fashion maker not only for Broadway, but Fifth avenue as well. She had a knack of wearing clothes as few women have.

When a flock of fevered letters in her hair being bobbed, the Castle clip swept the country. It still finds adherents. But many doubt the wisdom of Mrs. Castle staging a tapershirean come-back.

The truth is that the public has tired of professional dancers. Maurice and Leonore Hughes, despite their London hit, are meeting with indifferent success. Their appearance, in musical comedy and at midnight at a supper club.

And whether has the wind blown from the East? This Broadway harbor sweep with his ever-present cigar and grotesque gyrations was the rage, drawing a president's salary for honky-tonk grammar.

Dickson and Hyson flared like a skyrocket and were seen no more in the city. They were seen only in the playing of a stellar role in the London production of a Broadway play.

Harry Piker, an East Side boy, is running a supper club in Paris, following his sensational success in the dancing partner of the late Gaby Desang.

The few cabarets that bravely stem the tide have done away with the "hostess" who was on hand to do a little of the housework.

Now and then I have luncheon in a place frequented by hurrying commuters. It would be an ideal place for the artist in literature, for the student of the human mind, for the heart. This one harried patron said to the waitress the other day: "I want some rice pudding in a hurry."

"The rice pudding is in the air," said the waitress. "I don't know why I ever came back here."

At a meeting at the chamber of commerce at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening, captains in the Y. M. C. A. city hall, addressed the balance sheet of the Y. M. C. A. building, selected the workers who are to make up their teams. Ten names were named for the Y. M. C. A. building, and from these five were selected to serve on a team.

With five men and a captain to each team, the city will be subdivided for intensive work, and no part of Atlanta will be missed in the campaign. There are thirty teams in all, and the city hall will be the headquarters of the Y. M. C. A. building.

Now, let me give you some men in my county—where the boll weevil overran the cotton farms with as much ease as a steamroller over a road. His Hun overran Europe—who made wonderful crops of cotton despite the ravages of the boll weevil. Barney Johnson made 58 bales of cotton on 24 acres of land; Norton gathered 15 bales on 12 acres of cotton.

These cotton rows were about four feet apart; in planting about 200 pounds of nitrate of soda, cotton seed meal and phosphate were used. The boll weevil was not a pest, and the boll weevil had no place in the cotton row.

This cotton was planted using long singleseed to knock off the boll weevil. The boll weevil was not a pest, and the boll weevil had no place in the cotton row.

The boll weevil was not a pest, and the boll weevil had no place in the cotton row. The boll weevil was not a pest, and the boll weevil had no place in the cotton row.

try, and the Green followers are predicting that he will play havoc with the famous Georgia line. Tell this to a Georgia man, however, and see the smile that will come over his face.

Can't Be Pierced.
In fact, the Georgia line cannot be pierced for consistent gains. Three touchdowns have been scored against the Red and Black and none of these have come as attacks through the line. Harvard scored on a blocked kick, Furman's touchdown came as the result of a forward pass, and Vanderbilt scored on an inside kick.

The mighty Owen, of Harvard, who bucked the Yale line for a touchdown, was unable to penetrate the Georgia forwards with any degree of success. And the Red and Black followers naturally believe that Jim Robertson will meet the same fate. Anyway, Georgia is from Missouri and they will have to be shown as to the merits of aforesaid Robertson.

While nothing much has been written about the Georgia offense, it might be said in passing that it, too, deserves some credit. The truth of the matter is that the Georgia line has stood out so noticeably that the offense has been given less credit than it deserves. But anyone who has ever seen Hartley snatch on to a forward pass will admit the fact that in him and Jim Reynolds, Georgia has nearly a sure scoring card. In fact, Reynold's passes to Hartley have paved the way for the majority of Georgia's scores.

Anyway, it will be a good game Saturday—a game that will fittingly close the southern football season for 1921.

Too Many Holidays Cause Stock Dullness

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, November 22.—Professional traders tried to get stock prices down today, and many sold out customers of stock exchange houses. But, instead of reaction, there was only dullness. With Thursday a holiday, it would not be surprising if dullness continued for the rest of the week.

Wall street celebrates more holidays, probably, than any other part of the country, except where a lot of foreign coal miners are employed. But the feeling here is that there have been too many holidays this month. Leaving out Saturdays, which are only half days, and holidays therefore, for many there will only have been nine full working days this month.

Hurry calls were sent out today by Wall street stock exchange houses to customers who have neglected to sell stocks or bonds to register losses for income tax purposes. The new tax bill which has already been passed by the house and which is due to go through the senate now minute prohibits the practice which for the past few years has been general of selling stocks at the end of the year to establish losses and immediately buying back the same stocks.

A shipment of $3,250,000 gold arrived here today from England on the Cedric.

Another advance has occurred in the selling price of copper. The December delivery price is now 12 5/8, with 13 1/4 named by a number of companies for delivery during the first quarter of 1923. Actual sales have been reported at the price last named.

Bethlehem Steel announced today that on January 16 it would pay off the $7,500,000 7 per cent notes outstanding which are redeemable at that price. The regular date of maturity is July 5, 1922. The right to convert the notes into thirty-year 6 per cent bonds expires on January 16. Like many other companies that have exceeded their already announced advance of the situation by reducing its fixed charges.

Tobacco Products is considering an offer from bankers here for a loan to take up the $1,600,000 8 per cent scrip dividends outstanding. If the loan can be negotiated for 7 per cent or less, the company will probably accept it.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION "C-WORD" PUZZLE GAME

Wouldn't you be surprised, a few days after the close of the contest to be advised you had won first prize in the C-Word Puzzle Game, or to be aroused in the dead of the night and handed a message heralding the same glad news? How do you suppose you would feel who did not qualify your list for the first prize of $1,000 or the Buick Six Touring Car? Rather sorry you hadn't taken heed to our numerous appeals to get to work for a few minutes—wouldn't you? Well, let's not allow a possibility of anything quite so awful as that occur. You know if you have submitted a list of "C-Words" you have until Saturday, November 26th, to send in subscriptions to qualify your list, but we cannot accept any lists of words now, as the game part of the contest ended Saturday, November 19th. Why not step out today while you still have time to reap the benefit of a small amount of effort. Just let your friends, relatives and neighbors know what you are doing. They will be glad to help you.

vote of only one majority, to let the people have an opportunity to speak. "I am going to have an open meeting before I decide what I will do with the measure," the mayor replied.

The public, irrespective of denomination, will be invited to participate at the hearing, at which the mayor will preside.

If the ordinance becomes a law, the presence of negroes at a white service or of whites at a negro service, would be a violation of the law and punishable by fine or imprisonment.

It forbids "any priest, archbishop, prelate, preacher, pope, minister of the gospel or pastor in any church, or other persons within the limits of the city of Atlanta, to maintain any house, church, or other edifice for the joint colored people, either at such religious services or any preliminary services, mass or Sunday school." Similar restrictions govern schools.

Councilman Walter A. Sims is the author of the measure, introducing it in council two months ago.

Yes, We're Thankful!
(Says Bob.)
Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day—a day set apart when our whole country is asked to render special thanks for the kind Providence which watches over us.
As a matter of fact, we ought to be thankful EVERY DAY. Haven't we got life and health, and food and clothes—and, after all, aren't we getting along about as well as we deserve?
Of course business could be better—BUT IT COULD BE WORSE. I'm thankful that quite a number of friends and patrons drop in every day to see us, and that we still continue to enjoy a liberal share of the clothing and furnishings trade.
We're optimistic as can be—and it's going to take a heap worse times than these to take the smile off the faces of all of us at my store!
Come in, fellows, and look around, and if you need anything in the line mentioned below, I can save you money—and you are assured real values.
